

Tubtara® stock moves to a brand new warehouse

Our stock of Tubtara® will move to a brand new location on our facility in Wilrijk at the end of May. The new warehouse offers more space to work faster and more efficiently. But the icing on the cake is the fully automated vertical lift system for order picking. Faster deliveries, better flow of incoming and outgoing goods, more storage locations for new products and secure 100% traceability, that's what Dejond is investing in!

Of course our large stock has to be transferred from the old to the new location. The move is planned during the last 2 weeks of May. Our warehouse staff will continue to work during the extended weekend of Ascension to keep disruption to a minimum. We have drawn up a strict planning and some temporary guidelines.

What should you take into account during the period from 16 to 30 May?

Week 20: all goods requested for 26 or 27 May will already be packed on 19 or 20 May

Week 21: all goods requested for 25 May will be packed on 24 May – however, some delay is possible. Regretfully additional goods cannot be included in your shipment on the day itself.

Express-shipments: what you order on day 1 before 17h00, will be packed and shipped by us on day 2.

We urge you to pass on your forecasts and call-off orders for the period of 16 to 30 May by the end of this week at the latest.

We will do our utmost to minimise delays. From Monday 30 May onwards we will be fully operational again from the new location!
